Background

Sizani Foods has been manufacturing nutritional foods for feeding schemes since 1995. The company was started, and is still owned by Brian Moore who has always had a passion for improving the lives of others. He has achieved this through providing effective food products and efficient service to non profit partner organizations. Sizani Foods also sponsors several feeding schemes on a daily basis and continues to assist projects where there is a need.

Sizani Foods recently merged with a well known food production company in Midrand called Haticam Foods, which was headed by Alex Hogerzeil, a food production veteran of more than 25 years. The two partners now manage the merged company under the Sizani Foods name.

Sizani Foods operates from a ISO 22000 certified, food grade and Halaal certified manufacturing facility in Midrand, Gauteng, South Africa. We distribute in most provinces in South Africa, through a network of distribution warehouses and independent agents.

Sizani Foods exports to several countries in Africa and the Middle East.

Sizani Foods directly employs over 30 staff at the Midrand factory and a further 18 people as independent agents, social workers and field workers.
